

MESSAGE FROM THE PUPS

DEAR FAMILY AND FRIENDS,

The NTPA is now in its 15th year as an organization. Our talented and hardworking committee of volunteers has been honored to carry the history of our Timberwolves—members of the “Greatest Generation”—into the 21st century. At our founding, we pledged to remember the bravery and sacrifice of our WWII Veterans by continuing the tradition of the annual Memorial Service, begun in 1945. Each year, we’ve been reminded of all who served in the 104th—the KIA, the MIA, the wounded, the survivors—all very young and all called to serve, putting themselves in harm’s way for the preservation of inalienable rights, both at home and abroad.

Although we’ve accomplished our mission with great success, we’ve never forgotten that our role as hosts to this legacy would eventually conclude; and we are now ready to pass the torch to a new generation of leadership. Our recruitment of new membership has been constant, and we are reviewing several new initiatives to assure the continued availability of 104th history to future generations, including the mission to honor these Veterans every year. We must continue to develop our relationship with the Fort Douglas Military Museum in Utah, Adair Living History in Oregon, the overseas museums in the Netherlands and Belgium, and more. Our Veterans deserve every resource available to make certain they will always be remembered.

We call upon our membership to share any of their ideas for how we can preserve the legacy of the 104th Infantry Division as we transition to a new generation of stewards. And we hope to see you at our next reunion this October in Portland, Oregon.

Notes from the Reunion Site Committee

Hi, EVERYONE!

We’re having our annual NTPA reunion in beautiful Oregon this October—later than previous reunions, but as we evolve, we’re exploring ways to make the most of timing, cost, and availability. Our hotel is in Clackamas, just outside of Portland, and is conveniently located close to great shopping and dining.

We are collaborating with an enthusiastic, Oregonian-owned and operated outfitter company, Infinite Oregon Tours (InfiniteOregonTours.com), which is offering several exclusive, 5-star-rated “eco tours” that explore the natural beauty, history, and geologic grandeur of Oregon (3 full-day, nature-based tours and 2 half-day, city-based tours). The company uses very comfortable yet smaller 13-passenger, high-roof, large-windowed vans, with expert guides to facilitate unique access to the most scenic wilderness areas and hidden gems of Portland. Because these vans are in high demand, it is important for us to confirm the tour participant numbers as soon as possible, to not only secure our own private vans and convenient hotel pick-ups but to also enjoy the tours together. (Note: You can join the company’s regular public tours if we do not have enough people, but that will be more difficult logistically and may cost more.)

Please see pages 4–6 for more information and make note of these important dates: (a) August 15th: tour registration deadline, (b) September 2nd: hotel registration deadline, and (c) September 7th: AFR registration deadline. (If you wish to register and pay with AFR closer to their deadline, just let me know by August 15th which eco tour(s) you wish to join: jenealann@gmail.com, 415.412.3279.)

Our main reunion tour is on Friday, October 10th, to the former site of Camp Adair, where we will visit the Memorial Park and the Adair Living History (AdairHistory.org) historical interpretive site (the “work in progress” that Pup Mary Jamieson is helping facilitate), and then to the Evergreen Aviation & Space Museum (EvergreenMuseum.org) and Camp Withycombe, home of the Oregon Military Museum (OregonMilitaryMuseum.org).

Again, please make your plans early and register as soon as you can. I look forward to seeing everyone in Oregon!

2024 GENERAL TERRY DE LA MESA ALLEN AWARD AT WEST POINT

On October 12, Cadet Nolan Wyson of Mantua, Ohio, class of 2025, was presented the annual General Terry de la Mesa Allen Award for Military Science (second-year cadet). Cadet Wyson is an exceptionally talented young man who brings great honor to the legacy of General Allen and his Timberwolves. Cadet Wyson earned this award by excelling in military science against stiff competition among his tremendously talented classmates. Upon graduation, Cadet Wyson intends to begin his promising Army career with a commission in the infantry.

REMEMBERING PFC. BRYCE THORNTON

Many Pups will have fond memories of TW Bryce C. Thornton, who died in December 2024, just a few months short of his 100th birthday. (He was the only WWII Timberwolf at our DC reunion in 2023, featured in our last newsletter.)

Bryce joined the 104th in 1942 as a draftee from Ohio. Assigned to the 415th Regiment Anti-Tank company, Bryce was trained in explosives. The Division departed Camp Carson, Colorado, for France late in summer 1944. As the Timberwolves moved north and east through Belgium, the Netherlands, and into Germany, Bryce was part of a team that cleared buildings, fields, and bridges of mines and bombs.

After the war, Bryce became an active member of the NTA and later the NTPA, attending many reunions with his late wife, Helen. Later, he introduced his children and grandchildren to Timberwolf history on several European tours. A natural storyteller, Bryce was often called on during these tours to share his vivid memories of his wartime experiences. Whether recounting his team clearing explosives at the Remagen bridgehead or sharing food with a young German boy in the waning days of the war, Bryce rarely claimed credit for himself; instead, he noted how he and his buddies counted on each other and their sense of duty for each task or objective. In 2023, at age 98, Bryce joined the first Tallahassee Honor Flight to the WWII Memorial in Washington, DC (<https://www.honorflighttallahassee.org/pfc-bryce-thornton/>).

Bryce was a warm, friendly, and loyal Timberwolf who will be greatly missed. (To read his full obituary, go to https://

AN UPDATE FROM ADAIR LIVING HISTORY

Hello, from Adair Living History in Oregon, where we are busy wrangling contractors as we continue work on the WWII barracks that will become our historical interpretive site. The electrical work has been completed, insulation is next, then comes the drywall and shiplap installation.

One portion of the building will be a permanent display that mimics the interior of a barracks building, complete with shiplap (to offer a flavor of what the barracks looked like in the '40s), bunk beds, footlockers, a potbelly stove that was donated to us years ago, and other related objects and documents. Board members Mary Jamieson (our mutual friend) and Matt Helget have family connections to Camp Adair, and both have extensive collections that may be used to furnish this area.

Our greatest challenge at present is the need for more board members and volunteers to address the high workload—something we will concentrate on during the coming months.

The best news about our work? It has been enthusiastically supported by local museums and educational institutions, as well as the Siletz tribe. We also greatly appreciate the support we've received from the NTPA. Sometime next year, we look forward to a very successful opening of an interesting and thriving operation on what we consider to be sacred ground.

GREETINGS FROM THE FORT DOUGLAS MILITARY MUSEUM

What an exciting year we have had here! The museum has gone through a complete restructuring, closing for about five months in 2024 while we did some internal cleaning and reorganizing. We are still going through that process to prepare for the new and exciting changes to come, including our 50th anniversary.

The Fort Douglas Military Museum (FortDouglas.org) was founded in October 1975 and officially opened in the summer of 1976. Fort Douglas has a rich legacy that we plan on preserving along with all of Utah's military and Veteran history. Whether these Vets were from Utah, moved to Utah, or were stationed here, there will always be a place for them at the museum. This is why we have been officially designated as Utah's Military Museum.

To help encompass all this history, we are changing our name to the Utah Military Museum at Historic Fort Douglas—a reminder that Fort Douglas is a National Historic Landmark. In the next 18–24 months, we will be redesigning and updating the museum exhibition space, and the 104th will have a place in this new design. We have also found an image of General Allen that we would like to use in our new logo.

Change can be intimidating and worrisome, but it need not be feared. We are optimistic as we surge through the continuous progress of the museum. We will always welcome stories, histories, and volunteers; and this summer, we will be ready to begin accepting additions to the 104th collection again.

With warm regards,
—Fiona Robinson, Office Administrator

TOUR DESCRIPTIONS

OREGON COAST TOUR

Wednesday, October 8: Visit magical Ecola State Park, one of Oregon's most breathtaking vistas, which inspired William Clark (of the Lewis & Clark Expedition) to write of it in poetic fashion when the Corps of Discovery first arrived in 1805. Gaze at the stunning views of the rugged coast dotted with dramatic sea stacks (basalt lava islands). Stroll through the quaint coastline town of nearby Cannon Beach, known for its long sandy beach, Haystack Rock, art galleries, delicious seafood and boutique shopping. Ride along scenic Highway 101, stopping at secluded beaches, gorgeous state parks, and various natural attractions along the way. Look for whales, sea lions, seals, rare seabirds, bald eagles, puffins, herds of Roosevelt Elk, and countless examples of temperate rainforest flora and fauna. After an incredible day of exploring and sightseeing, return to Portland through the Clatsop and Tillamook forests, possibly catching a glimpse of the majestic Cascadian volcanoes, before being dropped back at the hotel. Guests always return refreshed, invigorated, and thrilled by the unspoiled, underdeveloped, and wild nature of the uniquely scenic Oregon Coast.

"BAPTISM OF FIRE" 80TH ANNIVERSARY TOUR IN THE NETHERLANDS (OCT. 18–26, 2024)

There's too little room to recap the entirety of our overseas tour this past October (an alternate gathering to the annual NTPA reunion), so here are a few highlights (and pictures): The tour included 43 participants from across the US; Tony, our British tour guide; and a few meetings with Pup filmmaker Kenny Griggs and his Dutch grandmother, who was a child when the TWs liberated her village. We started and ended in Amsterdam, with visits to the Van Gogh Museum and a canal boat tour the second day. Other outings featured the historic windmills of Kinderdijk; the medieval streets and architecture of Bruges, Belgium; the Friends of the Timberwolves and M&M museums; and multiple ceremonies at Timberwolf sites and monuments throughout the area, including American military cemeteries in Belgium (Henri Chapelle and Margraten) and a formal dedication of a new liberation monument in Wernhout (in the Netherlands). Per usual, the reception from our overseas Friends was warm and welcoming—overflowing with reverence, generosity, and kinship—and we were so grateful to share this anniversary with them.
